

RED ROCKIES

RED ROCKIES are specifically designed for all cattle - trace elements plus copper for growth and fertility. Especially suitable for stock kept on intensively grazed or reseeded pastures. They can help to counteract trace element deficiencies in all cattle, horses, deer and goats. Because of the copper content, this lick must NOT be fed to sheep.

MINERALISED SALTS LICKS

ROCKIES

MINERALISED SALT LICKS

WHAT ARE ROCKIES?

ROCKIES are one of the hardest mineral licks you can buy, which means they save you money by resisting all weather conditions. ROCKIES will last longer!

WHY USE ROCKIES?

Because ROCKIES are an ideal carrier for trace minerals and salt—needed by ALL animals.

When cattle and horses are on pasture with little, none or varying amounts of concentrate, farmers can supply trace elements from the wide choice of ROCKIES.

THE VERSATILITY OF ROCKIES?

ROCKIES come in various sizes to suit the different requirements of a herd—varying from just one animal to a whole field! For example, ROCKIES 2kg will last an average horse one month; If there are two horses sharing a field, a 5kg block will last just over a month.

The ROCKIES range comes in a variety of choices. LAMINSHIELD, for horses who require daily magnesium and/or prone to laminitis; APPLE flavoured 2kg blocks for the individual horse; and, of course, RED ROCKIES for all stock except sheep.

Apple flavoured Health Lick

The Flavoured Health Lick range from Rockies has been specifically designed to meet the needs of horses and ponies alike. Available in 2kg blocks, with their own holders, these Rockies are very attractive to all equines due to their combination of unique flavouring, high purity minerals and trace elements.

Primarily containing essential salt and other vital minerals and trace elements, they can help replace the missing goodness that is crucial to maintaining a healthy horse. Use them all year round - but especially during the hotter summer months, when the horses salt requirements are at their greatest.
